

Leadership Education at Duke Divinity (LEADD)

We would like to call your attention to an important new on-line resource for religious leaders produced by the Leadership Education at Duke Divinity (LEADD) program, based at Duke Divinity School. Founded in January 2008, LEADD seeks to cultivate thriving communities that are signs, foretastes and instruments of the reign of God. One of their major offerings to religious leaders is Faith & Leadership, an online magazine that aims to strengthen the practice of Christian leadership. This weekly e-magazine, consisting of two separate newsletters, provides access to a whole cluster of resources, both text and multi-media, on a broad range of issues of interest to pastors and other religious leaders.

News & Ideas—Sent weekdays, it features a digest of thought-provoking news articles, magazine stories and commentary from various publications around the world that are specially selected for Christian leaders.

Faith & Leadership—Sent every other Tuesday, this newsletter features a mix of original content, including stories, theological reflections, research reports, and video interviews with institutional leaders. It also links to Call & Response—their daily blog for daily insight, inspiration and discussion about Christian leadership.
