Dissertation Fellowship Program

Faculty Letter of Recommendation

Please return to the address above by February 1.

Applicant Name: _____

Title of Proposed Dissertation: _____

The Louisville Institute seeks to nurture inquiry and conversation regarding the character, problems, contributions, and prospects of the historic institutions and commitments of American Christianity, including American Protestantism, American Catholicism, the historic African-American churches, and the Hispanic religious experience. In its grantmaking The Louisville Institute intends to support, inform, and stimulate the institutions and their leadership through which religion seeks to address the needs of American society.

The Dissertation Fellowship Program of The Louisville Institute seeks to advance these aims by identifying a new generation of promising scholars and by encouraging them in the final stage of their dissertation work. Proposed projects may employ a variety of methodological perspectives, including, but not limited to, history, ethics, the social sciences, biblical studies, and historical, systematic, and practical theology. They may also be interdisciplinary in nature. The criteria for the selection of award recipients are the potential contribution of the dissertation to both scholarship and American religious life and the ability of the applicant to complete the proposed project successfully during the award year. Please sign and attach this form to your recommendation letter, printed on your institutional letterhead. Thank you for your assistance.
